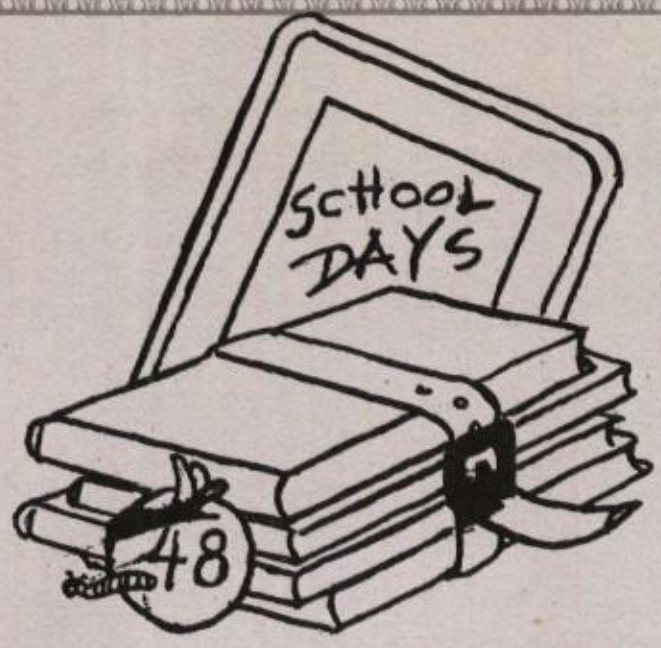
Class History



Nine of the little toddlers who were dragged into the first grade room of WGS in 1936 are still around to tell the tale. These innocent little dears, who have grown to be members of the dignified "class of '48", are Gretchen Anderson, June Dickson, Ivan Beaumont, Conrad Welch, Florence Rateuke, Don Patrie, Winona Lee Beach, Keith Young, and Joann Bradley. June, Conrad, and Ivan moved away for a few months, but they came back--couldn't stand it without us!

Donna Durham, the little girl with the long curls, came from Greenleaf to join us in the second grade.

In the third grade, we happily smeared ourselves from head to foot in our first adventures with ink. Some of us felt pretty grown-up when we traveled each day to the fourth grade room for supplementary reading.

When we actually got into the fourth grade, we found we weren't so smart after all. Miss Holloway's honor roll was usually well filled, but so was her poor English list.

In the fifth grade, we were always feudin' and fightin' about something--especially the girls. We couldn't even play a softball game without tears and occasionally a "freeze out" or a fist fight. We kept the aisles hot one afternoon traipsing to and from the pencil sharpener trying to get a glimpse of Mrs. Waterbury's engagement ring. Marjorie Burnett, the class heartbreaker, came in from the country to join the fun.

We rose to new heights and quickly fell to the lowest depths when we started departmental work in the sixth grade. We learned to say "I shall" and "you will" to the rhythm of Miss Ginn's tapping fingernails.

And then we came to the seventh grade--Boy, were we proud of ourselves! The contest between grades to see who could buy the most savings stamps really got hot, especially between the seventh and eighth grades. We began to learn something about law and order when we held court. Don Patrie was the defendant--framed. One of the members of this illustrious band of bird brains was posted to catch Don red-handed. The criminal was detected and the trial proceeded. The crime was snipping off one of Miss Dickson's beloved ferns. Don must have bribed the jury, because he was acquitted after an extremely short recess.

Grade eight--What a year! Tournaments came hot, heavy, and fast. Our basketball team won all tournaments that year. We were really proud of their undefeated record. The checker fiends of the seventh and eighth grades promoted a

The poor freshmen didn't have a chance at the hands of the seniors who had suffered silently (?) through initiation when they were freshmen and were now planning to give the freshmen a little of the medicine they got.

Officers were chosen at the first class meeting. They were: Kenneth Kern, president; Conrad Welch, vice-president; Marjorie Burnett, secretary; Raymond Soder, treasurer. Florence Rateuke and Keith Young were elected to the student council.

We made plans for a chartered bus to take us to Kansas City for sneak day on_____.

Our class play was "Spring Green". Tryouts were held March 10, and the cast was selected by Miss Hennon, Mr. Gibbens, and Mrs. Beach. The date for production was set for April 9.

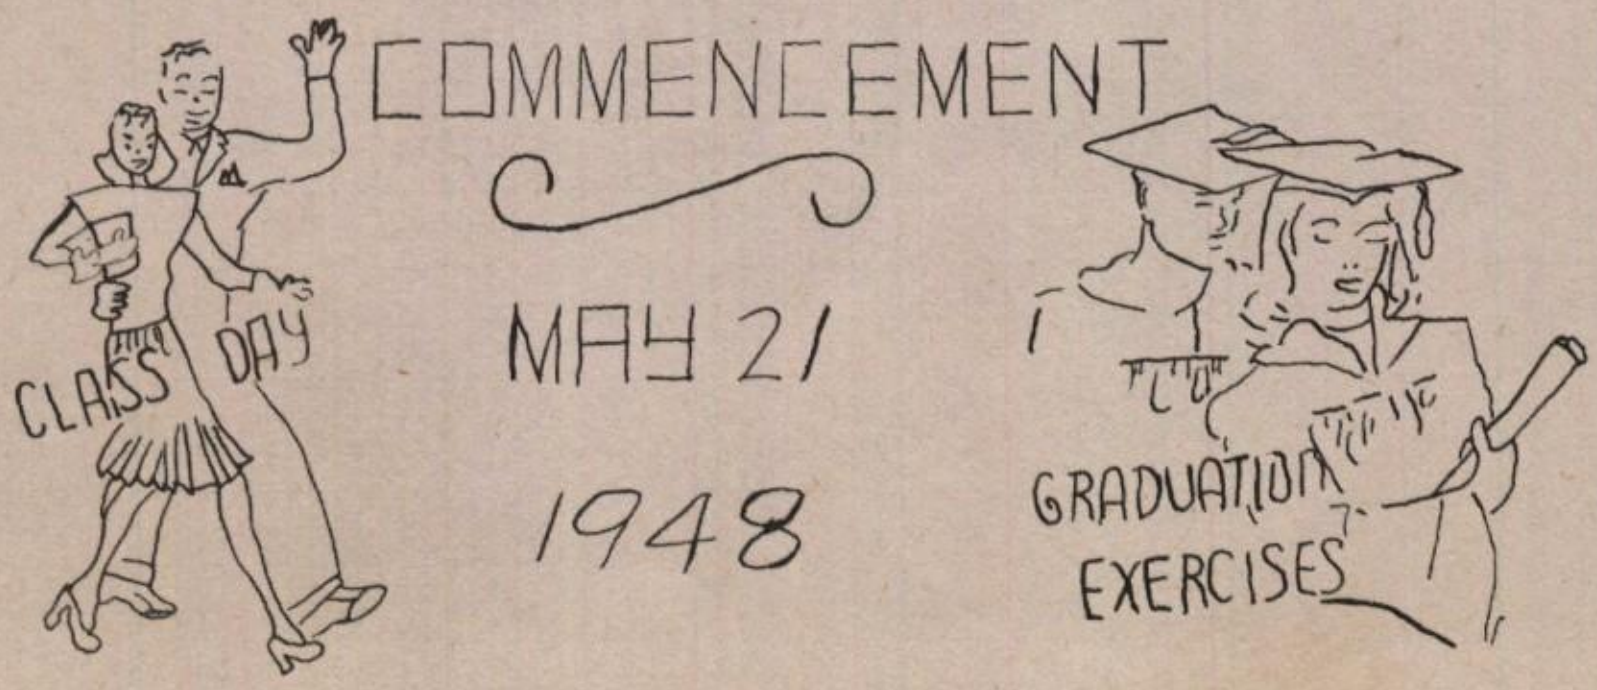
The cast was as follows:

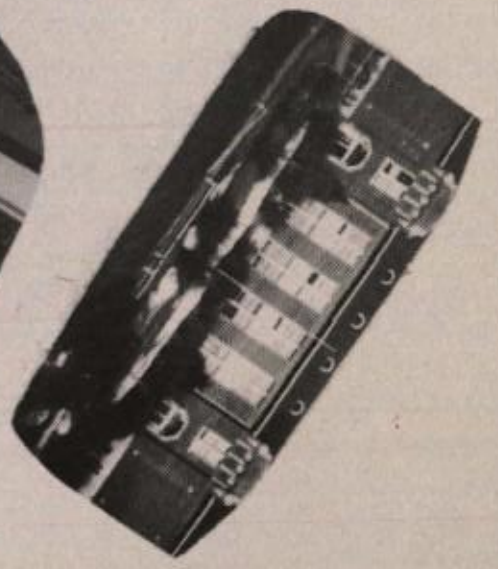
Nina Cassell	Florence Rateuke
Mrs. Rumble	June Dickson
Scootie Cassell	Winona Lee Beach
Mr. Putnam	Conrad Welch
Tony Cassell	Marjorie Burnett
Pinkie Ames	Marianne Waterman
Dunk Doyle	Keith Young
Bing Hotchkiss	Kenneth Kern
Genevieve Jones	Joann Bradley
Major Todd	Ray Soder
T. Newton Todd	Don Patrie
Eula Hotchkiss	Gretchen Anderson
Dr. Luther Blodgett	Ralph Gould
Officer Ryan	J. Weckrley
Billy	Sherman Ditmars

The Tell Tale Ten, made up of seniors, is really the English IV, or journalism class. The school paper, the "Sharpear", was published weekly and yearly subscriptions were sold. This is the third year the "Sharpear" has been published, but the first year it has come out weekly.

We had a pot-luck supper on October 29. Some of the class "volunteered" to do dishes, and the rest paid "one thin dime" to the class treasurer.

When we are old and gray, we'll think back to "good ole '48" when there was a gas shortage and W. H. S. students were "victims" of forced vacations. This was all well and good until we discovered, to our sorrow, that we had to make up the work. Accordingly, commencement was postponed one long, long week.





W H S Prophecy

As we gaze into the big crystal ball we see that Kenneth Kern has become a great success in life. Yes we see that he has the main job as a flag pole sitter. We find that all that science and math did come in handy after all. He has just completed sitting one pole and can hear him sigh "Old Glory."

As we look again we are alarmed by a loud bass noise. At a second glance we find that Cleora Tegethoff is blowing her lungs out on the bass horn in Phil Spitalny's All Girl Orchestra. We find that her motto is "Maybe I don't play good, but I play loud."

At our third look in the crystal ball we see Carl Wineinger as a manicurist in a large beauty salon in Chicago, Illinois. We learn that in his spare time he is studying how to be graceful, quiet, and beautiful.

As we glance into the crystal ball for the fourth time we see something moving swiftly and as we take a second glance we recognize it to be Dean Merritt. We find that he is the minister of the Baptist church. He seems to be in a great hurry and is working out his sermon of the day. We see he has a large congregation in which the larger majority are women. No wonder he's in such a hurry.

As the ball keeps turning we see a small figure. Yes its Winona Lee Beach. We now learn that she has taken a job as a kindergarden teacher and a fine teacher she will make.

As the ball turns we see a young gentleman in Topeka. Yes we find that Ivan Beaumont is now one of the main skating stars of the ice frollics in Topeka, Kansas.

We now see that Keith Young, after four long hard years of college, has finally found his place in life. Yes he is a dog food salesman for a large firm in Linn, Kansas.

At our next look we see a boy who is still spreading the bull and losing things. Raymond Soder is a matador in Mexico City, Mexico, trying to lose his life and really flashing that red cape around. At our second glance we see not that only the bull is startled but many of the seniortas as well.

Next we see one real studious gentleman whom Webster must have displeased. Yes its J. H. Weckrley, hard at work, writing a dictionary of his own called, "Wacky Definations." He has one word which amazes us all and that is the defination and use of a comb.

Next we see Miss Florence Rateuke on her fifth tour around the world. At this time she has stopped off at Hawaii and we learn she is doing a fine job on her second lesson of the hula hula dance. My how times have changed!

Then we see Ralph Gould as a changed man. Yes he has become a great pianist at the Brown Derby and is certainly entertaining people with his boogie wooing.

At our next gaze in the crystal ball we learn that Ileen Tegethoff is not Ileen Tegethoff anymore. We find that she is married to Dean Wyse and is living as happy as can be.

As we glance into the ball again we see that Donna Durham has broken the world's championship typing speed record of 250 w.p.m. She is now employed as a typist for the Hollenberg Seed and Feed Co.

We next see Conrad Welch as a great scientist and working very hard on two important projects. One is trying to keep peace with Wanda Boston and the second, how to make a bladeless knife without a handle.

After four years of college we see Gretchen Anderson is still dealing with books. Yes only this time she is an author. We learn that her latest book, THE WAY TO STUDY, is selling very good and is being put in every school of the U.S.A.

As the ball turns round again we see another outstanding member of our class. Yes we see Donald M. Patrie has taken up the profession of a school teacher. He is teaching all the natives of the Philippine islands about the birds and the bees, at last he has come to like biology.

As we gaze into the crystal ball we see the May 16, 1948 issue of the Topeka Daily Capital. At a second glance of the paper we see a picture of a very pretty bride. Yes its our own Joann Bradley. She and Eddie are happily married and living on a huge ranch in Texas.

At our next glance we see another newspaper. This time it is the New York Times and we find that Leona Ouellette has made her 16th airplane flight to Alaska. We wonder where Bill's stopping point really is?

Next we see that Marianne Waterman is still turning on the charm only we find instead of to American men its to Arabian snakes. We do hope the snakes appreciate such charm.

Next we see this young gentleman certainly has converted since his quiet four years of high school and has become very mouthly. We now see Sherman Ditmars as an auctioneer for the Livestock Exchange Company at Kansas City, Missouri.

At our next glance we see June Dickson as chief warden for the womens penitentiary at Walla Walla, Washington. We find that this a trying and strendious job but we know she can take it.

At our last look in the crystal ball we see Marjorie Burnett as the futures first woman president of the U.S.A. Yes she really has the upper hand now so--all males beware.

SPRINGTIME FOR SUSIE

On November 13, 1946, one of the most sensational, stupendous, colossal junior plays ever presented in WHS was graciously presented the people of Washington and the surrounding territory by the members of the class of 1948. The name of this illustrious production was SPRINGTIME FOR SUSIE. Picking the cast was quite a trial. Mrs. Waterbury lost thirty-nine brown hairs and found thirty-nine gray ones. Mr. Abel groped around in a daze, shouting about "those try-outs again tonight," and then wandered off, mumbling to himself.

When the tumult and the shouting died, the cast looked like this:

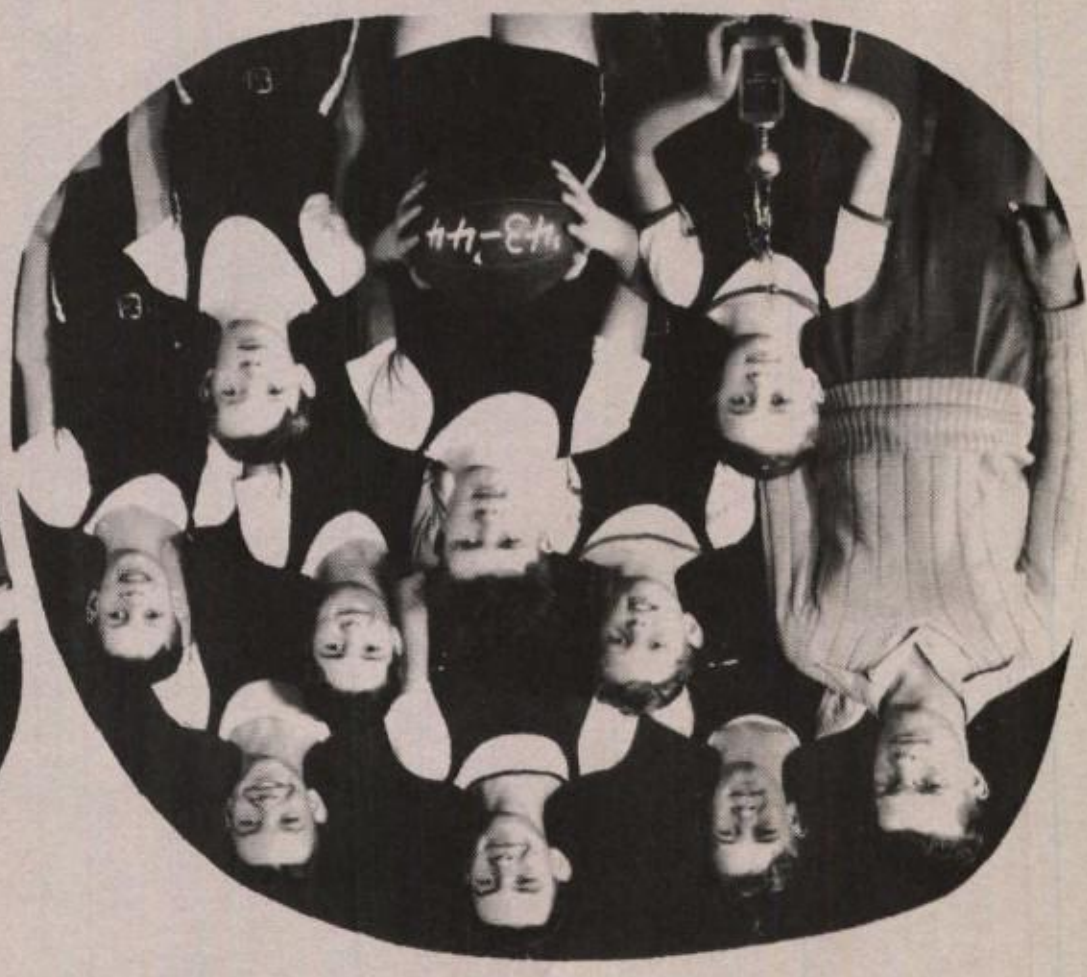
Susie.....Joann Bradley
Wayne Lorraine.....Kenny Kern
Sam Lorraine.....Conrad Welch
Laura Lorraine...Florence Rateuke
Lola.....Gretchen Anderson
Cupie Cloony.....Don Patrie
Constance Pauli..Marjorie Burnett
Bunny Slingsbee....J. H. Weckrley
Jud.....Keith Young
Jenny Frankfurter.Ileen Tegethoff
Sadie Applebaum.....June Dickson
Rita.....Leona Ouellette
The Maid.....Marianne Waterman
Mrs. Frankfurter.Cleora Tegethoff
Armistice.....Winona Lee Beach

We worked hard--day and night--for over a week. It seemed as though we would never learn the third act. A crisis arose when we couldn't find a davenport high enough to hide Don (Cupie). Finally we found a davenport Don could get under, but--he couldn't get out! He tried and tried, but succeeded only in tearing the seat of his pants. We finally removed the sofa and hid Cupie under the table. Bunny Slingsbee, the dry, slow Englishman, aptly protrayed by J.H., had us all worried. J. didn't know his part until the last night, and even then he made up his own speeches once in a while. Tabby R., as domineering Laura, was afraid to throw her arms around "meek" husband Sam (Conrad), and we were afraid she'd faint right in the middle of the stage. We could hardly keep our faces straight when Rita, the model (Leona) said "Aha, the horse, she ees emptee!" Jud (Keith) popped in and out of a trunk whenever he felt like it. We could hardly recognize Armistice, the colored maid, as Winona Lee Beach.

Mr. Abel kept some of us awake with his strong black coffee. It was strong enough to stand on--almost! Mrs. Waterbury almost gave up in despair--and we couldn't blame her.

But finally the big night came. Everything went off all right with Mrs. Waterbury, Mr. Abel, and Gladys Fritz prompting and Ray Soder taking care of the curtains.

After the ordeal was over, we feasted on hamburgers, chili, ice cream, and cokes and went on our way, feeling much happier and more free.



CLASS WILL

We, the senior class of nineteen hundred and forty-eight (1948), of Washington High School, of the city of Washington, count of Washington, state of Kansas, as we are about to be released from this institution for promotion intellectual ability do hereby improvise this document as our last will and testament to dispose of our resources, assets, and other petty belongings.

To the whole school the senior class bequeaths the school building, the sophisticated teachers, the right to run up and down the halls and stairs, and all demolished or destroyed property belonging to W.H.S. To the junior class we leave our ability to be arrogant and egotistical seniors. To the sophomore class we bequeath our ability to settle absolutely nothing in our class meetings. To the freshman class we leave our untiring faithful janitor, Charles Mathias.

I, Gretchen Anderson, do bequeath to Vondale Sweetland my vast amount of brains. I, Winona Lee Beach, leave to Leroy Zabokrtsky my height . I, Ivan Dee Beaumont, will to Bruce Bigelow my ability as in impersonator. I, Joann Bradley, bequeath to Joan Bowen my stature. I, Marjorie Burnett, leave to Donna Kaufman my ability to get along with people. I, June Dickson, bequeath to Don Randall my scholastic ability. I, Sherman Ditmars, leave to Fred LeMaster my ability to be a farmer. I, Donna Durham, will to Frank Bronson my typing ability. I, Ralph Gould, do bequeath my bashfulness to Daryl Griffin who needs a little. I, Kenneth Kern, leave to Bob Williams my excellent grades. I, Dean Merritt, will to Jim Holloway my ability to sing. I, Leona Ouellette, bequeath to Joan Patrie my French ancestry. I, Don Patrie, will to Jennie Decker my biological spelling. I, Florence Rateuke, will my vast number of cubic centimeters to Jane Krueger who could use some. I, Raymond Soder, leave to Charles Lobaugh my ability to lose girls. We, Ileen Tegethoff and Marianne Waterman, will our tempers to Dorothy Knedlik and Virginia Asche. I, Cleora Tegethoff, bequeath to Mary Alyce Coleman my ability to get ninth hour for talking in study hall. I, J. Weckrley, bequeath to Mike Wayland my ability in Chemistry to remember what H_2O is. I, Conrad Welch, do bequeath to Dale Welch my ability to get into trouble and mess around in the Chemistry lab. I, Carl Wineinger, leave to Richard Wieland my ackwardness and ability to skate. I, Keith Young, will to Jack Barley my ability to wear flashy clothes.

JUNIORS

In September, 1945, twenty-nine freshmen entered WHS to start the four-year struggle through the "Halls of Learning."

They were quite properly initiated, and after the ordeal was over, they became very well acquainted with their classmates.

The class officers their freshman year were as follows:

President - Jenny Walker
Vice-president - Fred LeMaster
Secretary - Frank Bronson
Treasurer - Don Randall

Student council representatives were Betty Ampe and Jimmy Holloway. The sponsors were Mrs. Waterbury and Mr. Peterson.

By the year '46 - '47, this class had dwindled until only twenty-five members started the sophomore year. The sophomore class officers were:

President - Doris Neu
Vice-president - Jack Barley
Secretary - Barbara Tegethoff
Treasurer - Betty Ampe

Student Council: Loretta Gassert and Fred LeMaster. Sponsors: Mrs. Sleigh and Mr. Gibbens.

Eight members of the class were chosen to serve at the junior-senior banquet. They were: Elverine Stewart, Barbara Tegethoff, Doris Neu, Loretta Gassert, Jimmy Holloway, Don Randall, Jack Barley and Frank Bronson.

In their junior year, the officers were:

President - Betty Ampe
Vice-president - Don Randall
Secretary - Jimmy Holloway
Treasurer - Fred LeMaster

Student Council: Elverine Stewart and Frank Bronson. Sponsors: Mrs. Waterbury and Mr. Abel.

They chose their class rings in the fall of '47.

The first big eve..t of the year was the junior play, "Fresh Air." It turned out to be one of the most successful high school plays in years.

This class is now looking forward to the junior-senior banquet and to next year when they will be the dignified guest at the banquet.

MAN OR BEAST?

Their freshman year started out with a large enrollment of 48 members. They elected as their class officers:

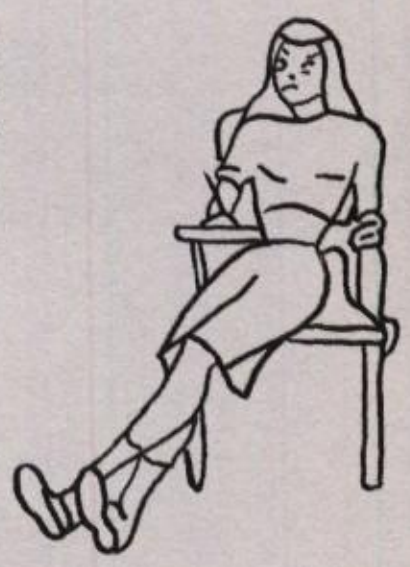
Virginia Asche - president
Phil Hanni - vice-president
Victor Schroeder - secretary
treasurer

For the student council Walter Hinkle and Dorothy Fletcher were elected.

During the year seven of the class moved away. There were: Betty Cain, who moved to Hollenberg, was later married and moved to Oklahoma; Maurice Hillyer and Bill Cook moved to the State of Oregon; Ruth Throop to California; Dwight Graham, who came to WHS the second semester, moved to Colorado; Clara Mae Dodds moved to Wichita; Maxine Justice to Marysville. The high light of the season was the formal Christmas party.

By the time they were sophomores, the blank looks began to leave their faces and the green actions began to disappear, although H. H. D. may think they are awfully green yet.

They had a class meeting and elected the class officers. They are as follows:



Lyle Sitler - president
Agnes Linenberger - vice-president
Phil Hanni - secretary
treasurer

At the same meeting they elected Victor Schroeder and Joan Patrie for the student council.

Lyle Sitler came to Washington from El Dorado. Two other members joined the class later in the year. They were Mary Kurtz from Topeka and Jerome Hanna, from Missouri.

The main event of the sophomore year was again the Christmas party, which was a huge success. They all enjoyed themselves very much. For this party there was a holiday King and Queen. Candidates from the sophomore class were: Joan Patrie and Lyle Sitler as a team and Marilynn Barley and Victor Schroeder as a team. As usual the dignified seniors won the election.

They also had a public speaking contest which was held the night of the junior debate. They had a lot of fun preparing for it and presenting it. They feel they owe a great deal to Mrs. Waterbury for the success of the program.

PROGRAM

One morning early in September of 1939 a group of bright eyed, smiling little tots enrolled in the first grade of Washington Grade School. Of these students thirteen are in our present class enrollment of 34.

One of the highlights of our grade school career was the District Grade Basketball Tournament held here in March 1947 of which the home team was victorious.

Another great event which was always looked forward to was the annual May Fete. Their last year in school this class elected Jeanette Gassert their May Queen.

On entering high school with a lot of other new students they went through the horrible experience of initiation. The night following the initiation an all school party was held to acquaint them with high school life.

At their first class meeting which was conducted by Miss Whipple and Mr. Peterson, our class sponsors, they elected the following officers:

President.....Ronnie Carver
Vice-president.....Glen Ampe
Secretary.....Dona Mae Collier
Treasurer.....Conrad Stewart
Student Council.....Marjorie Fletcher
Bob Houdek

Their candidates for the holiday king and queen were Joan Bowen and Conrad Stewart as one couple and Marjorie Fletcher and Don Knedlik as the other. Their class ambition is to all finish school before the age of 35.

ATHLETICS

Fighting Tigers

'47-'48 Season

WASHINGTON FIELD SEPT. 24 A spirited Washington eleven opened the '47 season victoriously with a impressive 13-0 victory over Marysville's B squad. The Marysville B never seriously threatened. Team captain was Carl Wineinger.

CLYDE FIELD OCT. 3 The Tigers took a defeat on a dusty Clyde field. The Tigers held the Bluejays for a scoreless first half. But in the second half Clyde rolled and scored three touchdowns in the third quarter making the final score 20-0. Captain for the game was Dean Merritt.

CLAY CENTER STADIUM OCT. 7 The Tigers took it on the nose 19-0 from a strong Clay Center B team. Poorly executed plays and a pass interception bogged down the Tiger offense. Team captain was Ray Soder.

WASHINGTON FIELD OCT. 17 Scoring two touchdowns in each half the Tigers blitzed the Linn Bulldogs 25-0. Running off the "T" the Tigers could not be stopped. Linn, completely out-classed, never threatened. Team captain was Keith Young.

CLIFTON FIELD OCT. 24 Featuring a pass offense that had the Tigers in a daze the Clifton Cardinals ran over the Tigers by a 26-0 score. Keith Young, quarterback, received a leg injury on the opening kick off. Team captain was Kenneth Kern.

LINN FIELD OCT. 31 The Tigers scored their second win over the Linn eleven by defeating them 20-0. The Tigers played scoreless ball in the first half but picked up steam to make three touchdowns in the last periods. Team captain was Don Patrie.

WASHINGTON FIELD NOV. 5 The Washington Tigers bowed to Frankfort by a narrow 13-6 margin. The score was tied up in the third quarter 6 all, but in the last quarter Frankfort scored on a screen pass making the final score 13-6. Team captain was Carl Wineinger.

WASHINGTON FIELD NOV. 14 Playing in the snow and slush the Belleville Buffaloes nosed out the Tigers to the tune of 12-0. Mitchell, the Buffaloes' fleet half-back, scored both touchdowns for the visitors. Team captain was Fred LeMaster.

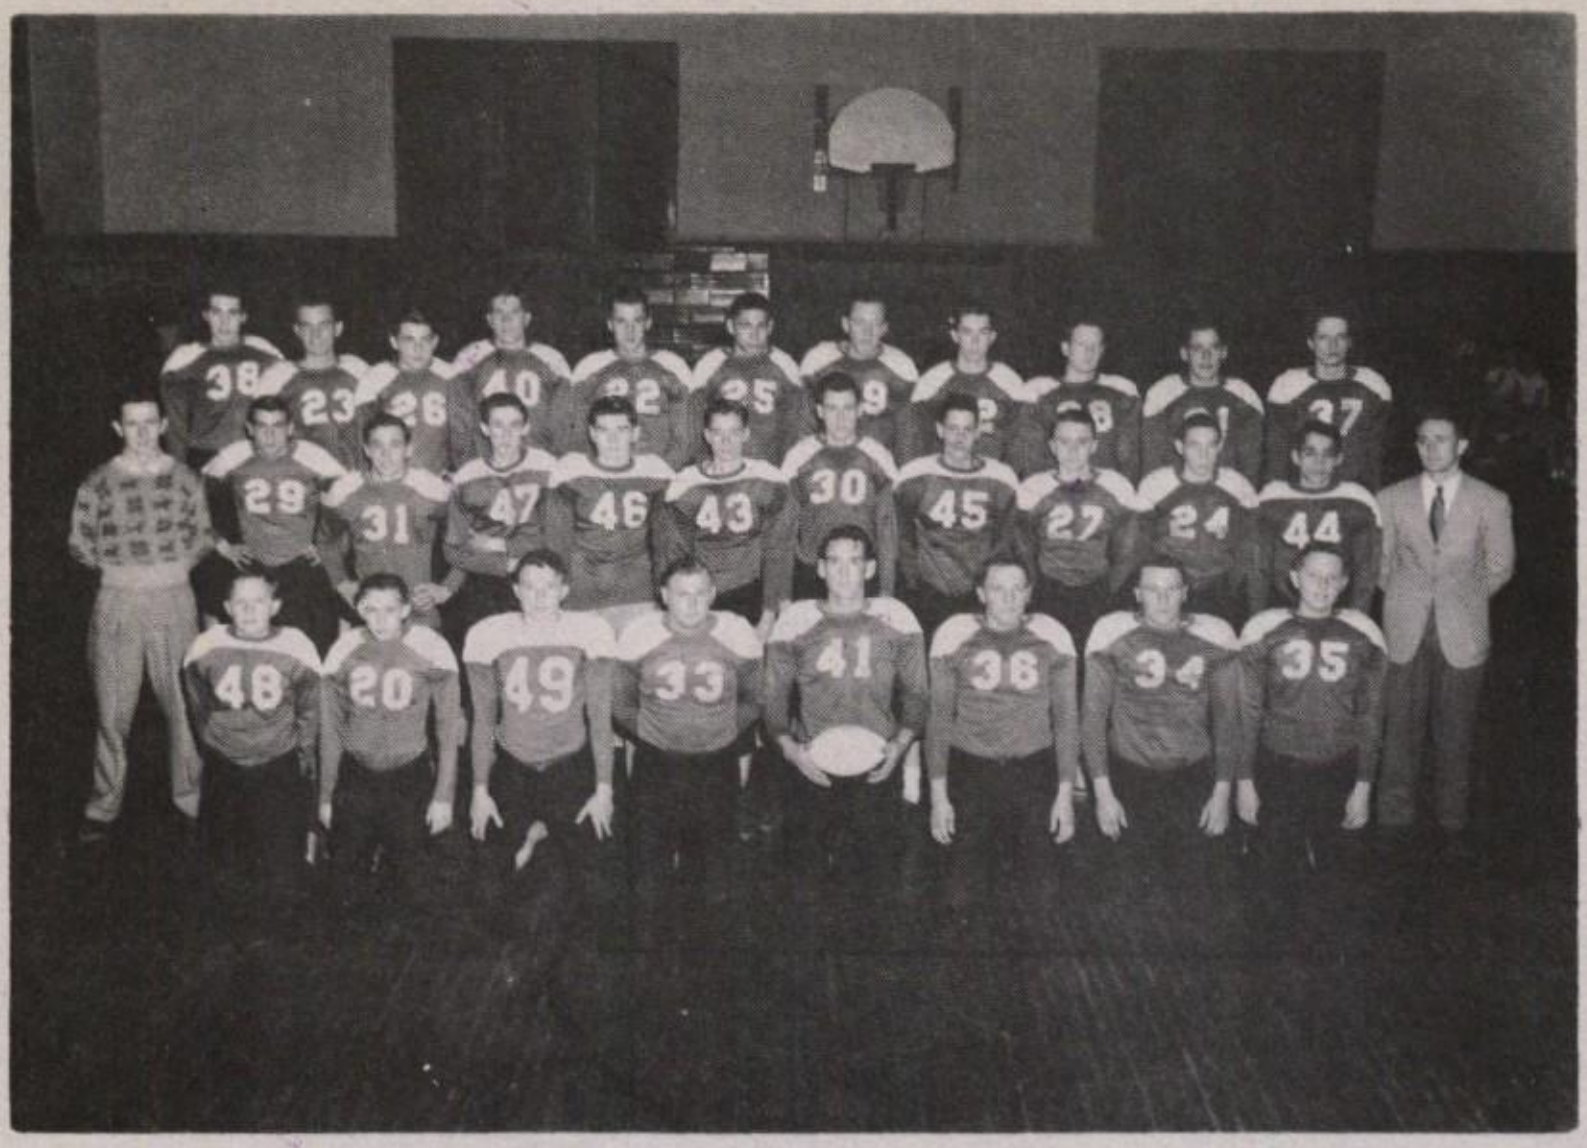
WATERVILLE FIELD NOV. 21 With the determination to win, Washington wound up the season downing Waterville's Yellow-jackets by a 13-6 score. In a driving snowstorm unstoppable Carl Wineinger, fullback, hit pay dirt twice, the winning touchdown made with minutes to play. Co-captains were Dean Merritt and Kenneth Kern.

MUCH CREDIT GOES TO GLENN HIGBEE, assistant coach, for the fine showing of the B squad. This is Mr. Higbee's first year at WHS. He is also study hall supervisor and grade school coach. Mr. Higbee was an outstanding athlete when he was in W.H.S.

DENZEL GIBBENS, head coach in football, basketball, track, and physical educational instructor in W.H.S.

Besides his ability as a coach he is well known as a teller of droll stories and he uses this to illustrate his point when he is called upon to give a speech.

"Gib" lettered in football, baseball, and track at K. U. He graduated in 1942 and received his M.A. in 1947. He served as a navigator in the Air Corps during the war. This is Mr. Gibbens second year at W.H.S.



Top row: left to right: LeMaster, end; Kern, halfback; Bigelow, halfback; Wineinger, fullback; Soder, end; Hinkle, halfback; Zabokrtsky, guard; Schroeder, fullback; McLeod, halfback; Merritt M., tackle; Bowen, center.
Middle row: Higbee, Lobaugh, center; Beaumont, guard; Knedlik, halfback; Holloway, guard; Woods, end; Sitler, end; Barley, end; Young, quarterback; Bronson, quarterback; Wayland, quarterback; Gibbens.
Bottom row: Wieland, fullback; Carver, halfback; Stoffel, tackle; Finlayson, guard; Merritt D., center; Scheetz H., tackle; Scheetz G., tackle; Patrie, guard.
